

“Slow Down” Campaign City of Vancouver

SLOW DOWN

My daddy works here

Street Operations

Mark Anstice
Street Operations
With daughter Megan (5)

Impatient motorists are a daily challenge for Mark as he works to make sidewalks and roads safer in Vancouver.

SLOW DOWN

Our owner works here

Waterworks Operations

Paolo Bandiera
Waterworks Operations
With Bianco (6) and Nana (13)

For New Westminister resident Paolo, speeding motorists are an on-the-job challenge.

SLOW DOWN

Our granddad works here

Waterworks Operations

Ken Bayko
Waterworks Operations
With grandchildren Jordan (7), Brian (7), and Samantha (10)

Ken believes that motorists need to reduce their speed so he and his coworkers can stay safe as they provide water services throughout the city.

SLOW DOWN

Our daddy works here

Sewer Operations

Ron Enns
Sewer Operations
With children Daniella (2) and Gabriel (5)

While working at night, Ron was almost hit by a driver who had plowed through road signs and barricades.

SLOW DOWN

My mom works here

Traffic Control

WORK SAFE BC
WORKING TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

CITY OF VANCOUVER

Teena Girard

Traffic Control

With daughter Samantha (17)

Coquitlam resident Teena has seen many close calls throughout her career. Last year, she was hit by an impatient and aggressive driver.

SLOW DOWN

Our dad works here

Waterworks Operations

WORK SAFE BC
WORKING TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

CITY OF VANCOUVER

Garth Kelly

Waterworks Operations

With children Damian (2), Madison (6), Braxton (14)

Garth believes that impatient motorists must pay closer attention to traffic signs and flag people. The Langley resident was almost hit by a speeding motorist who had driven over traffic signs and delineators.

SLOW DOWN

My dad works here

Street Operations

WORK SAFE BC
WORKING TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

CITY OF VANCOUVER

Jack K.

Street Operations

With son Koby (10)

Jack, a resident of Surrey, was almost hit by a motorist while working in a road closed to traffic. The driver had ignored the road closed signs that had been posted at both ends of the street.

SLOW DOWN

Our dad works here

Waterworks Operations

WORK SAFE BC
WORKING TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

CITY OF VANCOUVER

Robert Reddy

Waterworks Operations

With children Joshua (12), Bryanna (13), and Cynthia (16)

Robert is concerned about speeding and inattentive motorists. He was nearly hit by a vehicle when a driver disregarded a stop sign.